

Students' Science Conference

SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

November 10, 2017

FACULTY
OF ARCHITECTURE
CTU IN PRAGUE

Hosted by:

Department of Architectural Design II, Faculty of Architecture, CTU

Conference theme:

One-day international students' science conference will focus on current research-related questions connected to education of architecture. The aim of the conference is to present various attitudes to teaching and offer a discussion platform.

Along with papers directly involved in the teaching and instructing process at schools of architecture, topics delving into education of pre-university students as well as general public are welcome. Also, experts in other field may present their papers, for instance a faculty of education viewpoint on developing creativity and technical skills. The conference is also to cover briefly the application of the research by design method directly in the teaching of architecture.

Authors:

Ph.D. students who focus in their respective research on various aspects of architectural education and also Master students from the Faculty of Architecture, CTU who experienced an alternative teaching method within their stay abroad, e.g. during Erasmus+ exchange programme.
